PROPOSAL DEADLINE: Monday, September 21st

We are going to take a wide-angle look at student evaluation, including insights into aspects of students' environments which often go unnoticed or misunderstood in evaluation, as well as innovative and creative assessment tasks which are fun for the student and a relief for the teacher.

Proposals on a wide range of topics related to student assessment and evaluation will be considered, including:

- holistic and qualitative approaches
- innovative ways to elicit spoken and written responses
- creative test preparation for TOEFL, IELTS, CASAS, and other tests
- evaluation requirements driven by Common Core State Standards and Career Readiness Standards
- challenges to student evaluation
- insights into the hidden conditions impacting students' progress in and outside of the classroom
